HiPP Mixed Vegetable Puree: The Complete Baby Feeding Guide 2026

Aparent-friendlyguide toingredients,nutrition,serving,storage,and introducing vegetables during weaning.

SHOP AT BABYBEST STORE

What Is HiPP Mixed Vegetable Puree?

HiPP Mixed Vegetable Puree is a convenient ready-to-serve baby food made with a blend of vegetables — crafted with care for your little one's earliest meals.

EXPLORE HIPP MIXED VEGETABLE PUREE AT BABYBEST

Suitable from 4 months

As listed by BabyBest

125 g jar

Convenient ready-to-serve size

Organic-farm ingredients

Gluten-free · No added salt

ALA Omega-3

Contains rapeseed oil and ALA omega-3

What's Inside?

Thepureecombinesseveralfamiliarvegetables, all sourced from organic farming.

Carrots

Naturally sweet and rich in beta-carotene

Potatoes

A gentle, starchy base for smooth texture

Cauliflower

Mild flavour, easy on tiny tummies

Peas & Rapeseed Oil

Peas for plant protein · Rapeseed oil for ALA omega-3

Nutrition at a Glance

Per100g—understandingthesevalueshelpsparentsmake informed choices when building a varied complementary-feeding routine.

41

kcal Energy

Per 100 g serving

1.4g Fat

Including ALA omega-3

4.7g

Of which 2.2 g sugars

1.2g

From vegetable sources

0.05g

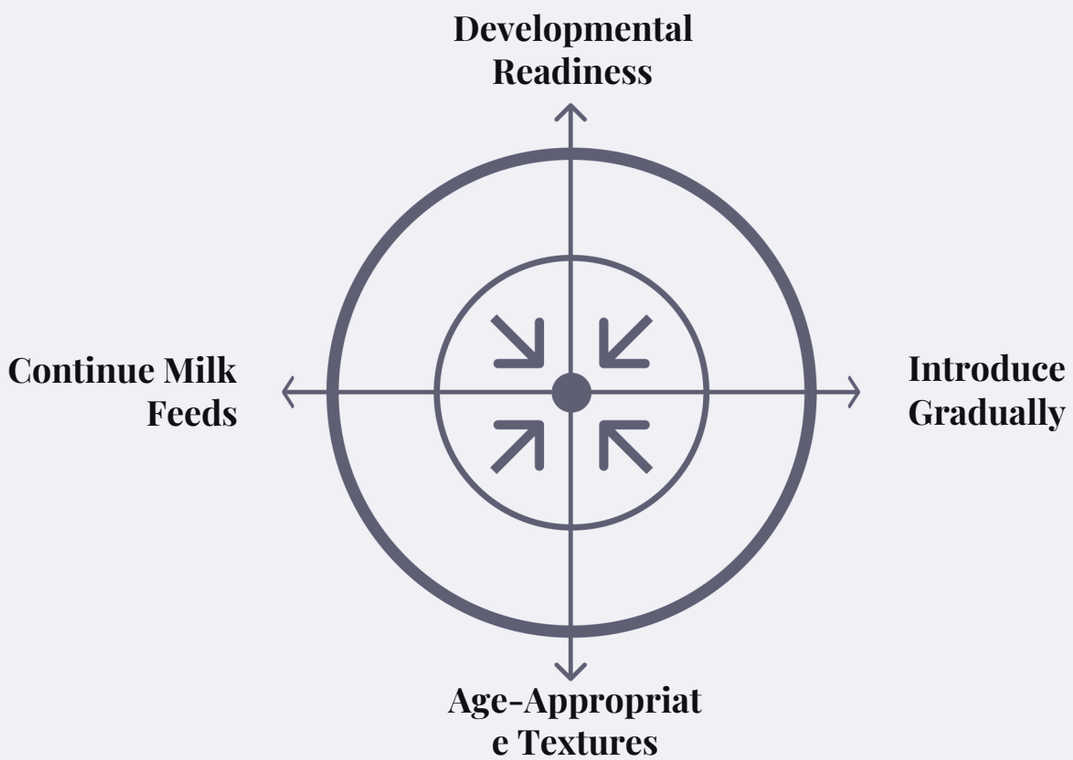
No added salt

0.09g

From rapeseed oil

When Can Babies Have It?

BabyBestlists HiPP MixedVegetablePureeas suitablefrom4months. Every baby develops at their own pace — here's what to keep in mind when beginning complementary feeding.



Always follow advice from your pediatrician or healthcare professional when introducing solid foods. Every baby develops at their own pace.

1 Watch for readiness signs

Look for developmental cues before starting solids.

2 Introduce gradually

One new food at a time, with patience.

3 Continue milk feeds

Breast milk or infant formula remains important.

How to Serve HiPP Vegetable Puree

A simple, safe serving routine for every mealtime.

Check the jar

Inspect for damage before opening.

Open & check seal

Confirm the vacuum seal is intact.

Portion into a bowl

Spoon only what you need.

Warm if preferred

Gently warm the portion, not the whole jar.

Feed & refrigerate

Use an appropriate spoon. Refrigerate unused puree promptly.

Tip: Avoid repeatedly warming the entire jar when only part is needed — portion first, then warm.

Why Introduce Vegetable Variety?

Introducingdifferentvegetablescan helpbabiesbecomefamiliarwith newflavorsand tastes during complementary feeding. HiPP's feeding guidance encourages variety as babies progress through complementary foods.

Think variety, not perfection:

1

🥕 Carrots

Sweet & familiar

2

🟢 Peas

Mild & green

3

🥦 Cauliflower

Gentle & new

4

🥔 Potatoes

Comforting & smooth

Storage & Parent Safety Tips

Before Opening

Store correctly
Follow package instructions for the unopened jar.

Check for damage
Inspect the jar before use.

After Opening

Refrigerate promptly
Store unused puree in the fridge immediately.

Use within 3 days
BabyBest recommends consuming opened product within 3 days.

Clean utensils only
Always use clean feeding utensils.

⚠ Always supervise your baby while eating. Follow the current instructions printed on the packaging.

Final Takeaway & BabyBest

A Convenient Vegetable Option for Complementary Feeding

✓ A blend of vegetables

Carrots, potatoes, cauliflower & peas

✓ Organic-farm ingredients

Thoughtfully sourced

✓ No added salt

Gluten-free formulation

✓ Ready to serve

A simple option for introducing vegetable flavors

Looking for convenient baby food online?

Shop HiPP Mixed Vegetable Puree at BabyBest Store

BABY BEST

THANK YOU

Visit us: babybest.store

Email: info@babybest.store